Japanese Report Another H-Bomb Test by the U. S.

BY RNEST HOBRECHT
TOKYO, (UP) — The United States exploded another hydrogen bomb today, Japanese scientists reported. They called it part of a series of rival tests being carried out simultaneously with the Soviet Union.

The U. S. explosion was detected by the Central Meteorological Observatory here with recorded "unusual atmospheric shocks." It said the hydrogen bomb probably was exploded in the Bikini area, scene of other H-bomb tests.

The Russian hydrogen bomb blast was reported to have occurred June 19 or 20. Dr. Hironobu Watanabe of Niigata university said he detected the explosion through radioactivity tests made on "hot" rain which fell in Niigata. Niigata is on the coast facing Siberia.

The arrival of two jet bombers in Honolulu from the Eniwetok-Bikini area soon after the reported explosion touched off speculation the third explosion may have been another air drop. Similar atom bombers in Hickam immediately after the May 21 explosion.

Adm. Lewis Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, apparently missed seeing the latest test if it took place. He and Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, passed through Hawaii en route home for Tokyo this weekend — probably before the test.

Masatsugu Ohta, chief meteorologist in Tokyo, estimated the atomic device exploded today was the same strength as that of June 1 — 10 million tons of TNT.

"We cannot tell whether the test was set off near Bikini or Eniwetok," Ohta said. "But we are sure that the United States did set off a hydrogen bomb test somewhere in these waters."

The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission in Washington refused to comment on the reports but a spokesman pointed out that the A.E.C. announced in April there would be at least ten shots in the current series of tests.

"We are not commenting on specific reports of the progress of the series of tests out there," the A.E.C. spokesman said.

Japanese scientists reported on May 21 and 22 that the United States had exploded a hydrogen bomb. The May 21 test was announced by the United States but Washington officials would not comment on the May 22 shot.

The scientists say such an explosion would have taken place at Bikini about three hours before the shock waves reached Tokyo at 5:20 a. m. (5:20 p. m. EDT Monday). The shocks occurred at intervals of two to three minutes for more than 48 minutes after the first wave.

Similar shocks also recorded at other Japanese observatories.

Two Negroes Are Jailed for Thefts From Hope Store

Two Negroes, Bobby Brown and Willie Briggs, both 18, have been arrested by City Police in connection with a series of thefts at Wade Warren's Store over a long period, Chief of Police Jack Brown said today.

Chief Brown said at least 4,000 pounds of feed stolen in small quantities from the feed store and sold by the pair, had been traced. He estimated that over a long period about $100 had been stolen from the firm.

Officers were called in following two recent break-ins. In the first about $15 was taken and from $35 to $40 in one last week, they said.

The investigation leading to the arrest was made by Chief Brown and Officer Raymond Pedron.

Lieblong Gets Thank-You for Terminal Work

J. I. Lieblong of Hope has received a resolution of appreciation from Texarkana Chamber of Commerce for his assistance in helping that city retain its mail terminal.

After several years' agitation in Texas to have the big terminal moved to the Dallas-Fort Worth area the Post Office Department finally announced this month it would remain at Texarkana.

Southwest Arkansas public opinion favored retention of the terminal at its present location because of good service to Arkansas points, and Mr. Lieblong supported this contention in Republican policy-making circles.

He is a member of the Republican State Executive Committee, and is one of six members on the Patronage Committee.

The Texarkana Chamber of Commerce resolution was signed by W. C. Dudley, president, and L. E. Gilliland, secretary-manager.

Whitney, Like Other Movie Producers, Is Plagued by Problem of a Good Story

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — Multimillionaire Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney may not be America's No. 1 movie producer but he rates high on the list.

"You always go back to your first love," he said, while discussing his active re-entry into the field of movie-making.

As president of his own independent corporation, Whitney has outlined an ambitious production program that will keep him busy for years. He is bullish on the long-term future of motion pictures, despite the heavy inroads made by television.

"The box office is going down hill, but I feel that is a temporary thing," he said. "What is needed? More quality pictures and special

Guests Dined, Given Several Souvenirs

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Brashears, their son Coy and their daughter Betty Jo, came buzzing into Hope last Thursday around 11:30 a. m. doing about 40 miles per hour.

Coy was driving the 1956 two tone Ford Town sedan with Maryland license plate, and the Brashears were headed for Corpus Christi, Texas for a three weeks vacation. Little did they dream that they would be chosen the Guest Tourists of the week, a promotion of the local Chamber of Commerce.

About 11:30 a. m. Chief Jack Brown, Harry Phillips, Bud Collier, Orville Taylor, Jay Bagwell of KXAR and your reporter crowded in to the new police car, followed by E. P. Young, Sr., and Richard Hogue in a new air conditioned Chevrolet, and by Mr. and Mrs. John Harrie from the Shipley Studio in their car and headed for the V. F. W. hut on Highway 67 East.

All parked and waited for the lucky victims. Several cars passed and here came the Brashears. Chief Brown spotted the car in the rear view mirror, and as Coy zipped by, we lammed after them. The Chief blew his horn, and Coy pulled over in front of Charlotte's Drive In.

Harry Phillips, the official spokesman for the mob, angled up to the Brashears' car, and said, "Are you in a hurry?" Mr. Brashears didn't stutter, but he did pause as everyone gathered around. He assured he was not in that big a hurry, and Harry gave the welcome address. Introductions were made and soon everyone were all friends.

Jay Bagwell moved in to do a tape recording interview of the Brashears and the John Harries started shooting... pictures. The Brashears were transferred to the Young car and Dick Hogue took their car to his station to service while they were having lunch.

The guests were greeted at Hotel Barlow by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Franks, Mrs. Cecil O'Steen and Mrs. William Rounton. After the Brashears had freshened up, the party proceeded on to the Diamond Cafe as guest of the Hope Lions Club and Mr. and Mrs. Odus Harvey, owners of the Diamond.

This reporter interviewed the Brashears and found out they have two other children besides Coy, 18 and Betty Jo 15. Charles, 22, is in an Airborne regiment stationed in Munchee, Germany and Bobbie, another daughter lives in Pasadena Maryland, across town from her parents. Bobbie's husband is Willis.

Algeria Question Delayed on Move by the Russians

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — Russia unexpectedly moved today that the United Nations Security Council postpone indefinitely consideration of the Algerian question.

Soviet Ambassador Arkady A. Sobolev moved the postponement on a point of order as soon as the council had convened. The council was considering the request of 13 members of the Afro-Asian bloc to decide whether to give a full debate to the dispute between France and the Algerian Nationalists.

Ambassador Djialal Abdoh of Iran, the council spokesman for the Arab countries that demanded action, said he would not oppose Russia's request for postponement.

Another Civil Rights Fight Is Shaping

BY EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (UP) — Another round in the North-South battle over civil rights legislation shaped up today as the House Rules Committee scheduled another meeting.

Last Thursday outnumbered Southerners on the committee threw their Northern Democratic and Republican opponents for a costly loss of time. For today's session an informal agreement was reported reached under which the committee would dispose of other matters and the civil rights tussle would be renewed either at a closed session later today or tomorrow.

The most controversial feature is one allowing the attorney general to bring civil suits for individuals who claim threats to their rights.

Proponents seek a House vote before Congress adjourns, even though the measure has little or no chance in the Senate, where Southerners can filibuster.

Immediate job of the supporters is to regain control of the Rules Committee and bring the bill out for House action. Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) has said frankly he will fight with every legal weapon.

Smith and the other Southern committee members, present, Rep. Colmer (D-Miss.), won a delay last week when enough members favoring civil rights legislation wavered out of a prolonged hearing on the bill to bring attendance below a quorum. The meeting was declared automatically adjourned, subject to Smith's call.

White House Aide Refuses to Testify

WASHINGTON (UP) — White House aide Maxwell Rabb declined today to testify before the Senate Investigations subcommittee. Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) called his refusal "inexcusably arrogant" conduct that the Senate should punish as contempt.

Rabb, secretary to the Cabinet, said word "there is nothing I can add" to his denial of yesterday that he or any of his staff "leaked" official documents to author Robert J. Donovan.

He said "I must respectfully decline" to comply with an invitation that he come in and make that statement under oath, and also tell whether he knows who did give the information to Donovan.

Waxed Potatoes Is High Court Issue

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today was asked to decide whether grocers should be permitted to sell waxed potatoes.

An injunction issued by Pulaski Chancellor Sam Rorex prevents the State Department of Health from interfering with the sale of waxed potatoes. Dr. J. T. Herron, chief health officer, asked the Supreme Court to dissolve the injunction.

The injunction was issued after Dr. Herron had attempted to ban such potatoes. He charged that the use of colored wax potatoes, which he said made "old" potatoes look "new," constituted "an illegal and economic fraud" against the consumer.

The Arkansas Wholesale Grocers Association contended that the wax is used only for "preservation and sanitation" and is harmless. Dr. Herron countered by saying that he does not object to the use of a colorless wax.

Road Priority for Areas Ready

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Construction priority on the federally designated interstate highway system in Arkansas may be partly determined by the initiative shown by local areas. Highway Director Herbert Eldridge said yesterday.

Eldridge suggested that if some one is interested in a certain highway and "comes in with a right of way inducement, he might get construction priority."

This would be in line with the Highway Commission's practice of giving priority to these areas in which right of way is donated to the state.

Appropriations for development of the interstate system are pending in Congress. Passage is expected before July 1.

In Arkansas the interstate system is composed of Highway 67 from Little Rock to Texarkana, Highway 7 from Little Rock to Memphis, Highway 61 from West Memphis to the Missouri line, Highway 63 from Little Rock to Conway and Highway 64 from Conway to Fort Smith.

Hope Man Key Witness in Murder Trial

TEXARKANA (UP) — Circuit Judge Lyle Brown yesterday rejected a defense motion for a mistrial in the case of four Negroes being tried for first degree murder in the slaying of M. R. Hamm, 70-year-old white man, in a $9 robbery.

The state is seeking the death penalty against the four — Roger Boone, 24, James Boyd, 19; Willie H. Byrd, 23, and James Moore, 18.

Court-appointed defense attorneys objected unsuccessfully to testimony of T. B. Fenwick Jr., 65, of Hope, who said Boone and Boyd beat and robbed him May 15, the same day Hamm's body was found.

The lawyers said the testimony against the two defendants was prejudicial to the other two. Sheriff W. E. Davis said he arrested Boone and Boyd shortly after Fenwick reported he had been attacked and that during questioning they volunteered to lead him to Hamm's body and implicated the other two defendants.

Hamm had been missing for six days when his body was found in a ditch four miles east of Texarkana.

3 Students Die as Guatemala Quells Reds

By RICHARD MASSOCK

GUATEMALA (UP) — Police firing submachineguns and pistols to break up a demonstration against the government's crackdown on Red agitation killed three university students and wounded 19 last night on Guatemala's city's main street.

The victims were in a parade of several hundred students marching toward the government palace to protest curtailment of civil liberties under the "state of alarm" imposed Sunday by President Carlos Castillo Armas' regime.

About half the marchers were girls.

One girl was wounded. So was a policeman.

The state of alarm put Guatemala under a form of martial law. The government said it was necessary to prevent "seditious disorders" plotted by Communists.

Soon after last night's shooting the government ordered censorship of news dispatches sent abroad.

Close Vote on Air Funds Is Predicted

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rival camps in the heated Senate battle over whether to increase Air Force funds above the amount asked by President Eisenhower agreed to a showdown today with Sen. Bridges (R-NH). They predicted it will be a close vote.

Bridges is spearheading a Republican drive to limit to half a billion dollars the added money that would be voted the Air Force for the 12 months starting Sunday.

Sen. Chavez (D-NM), floor manager for the 35-billion-dollar annual defense money bill, voiced confidence the Senate would approve an extra $1,100,000,000 for the Air Force. The House voted a little less than 15 1/2 billion dollars.

Chavez said most Democrats and some Republicans would team up to win by a margin of 6 to 10 votes.

Qualls Declares U. S. Striking Force Greatest

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of the Air Force Qualls said today this nation's fleet of more than a thousand medium jet B-47 bombers "constitutes the most powerful striking force on earth."

And three years from now in 1959, Qualls said, this fleet "with tanker support will remain the largest force of intercontinental bombers in the active inventory of any country."

Qualls stoutly defended the Air Force budget of the Eisenhower administration in an unusual public appearance before a Senate subcommittee a few hours before the Senate was expected to reach showdown votes on this heated political issue.

Pending are a Democratic proposal to add $1,100,000,000 to be Eisenhower Air Force requests and a Republican compromise to make the increase 500 million dollars.

Qualls appeared before a special Armed Services subcommittee that has been investigating relative U. S. - Soviet air power and urging more Air Force funds immediately to offset Soviet Russia's expanding air power.

New Plan by Leaders for Vet Pensions

WASHINGTON (UP) — Leaders in the pensions for veterans drive brought out a new one-half cent proposal today as the House headed into an anything can happen battle over a bill that could annually cost billions of dollars.

Rep. Edmondson (D-Ola.) said the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars will back a $90 a-month pension instead of the $105 version originally approved by the House Veterans Committee.

This, plus other agreed-on cuts in the committee bill, would chop first-year to little more than two-thirds of a billion dollars. Without this the administration estimates the first year's tab at 1 1/2 billions and a total of 148 billions by the year 2000.

The last-minute switch reflected leaders' opinions that even in an election year the bigger bill hadn't a chance of becoming law.

Chairman Olin E. Teague (D-Tex.), with the support of Speaker Rayburn (D-Tx.), pushed a rival plan aimed mainly at helping seriously disabled veterans. Providing less pension liberalization, it would cost about 200 million dollars the first year.

The last-minute switch reflected leaders' opinions that even in an election year the bigger bill hadn't a chance of becoming law.

Memphis Man Is Killed at Newport

NEWPORT (UP) — Johnny H. Bell, 46, of Memphis was killed here last night when his car crashed into a bridge abutment during a heavy rain.

Coroner Otis Dillingham said that Bell was thrown out of the car onto a concrete sidewalk. Bell died a short time later in a Newport hospital.

Bell, an employee of a construction firm, apparently was en route to Clarksville, where his company is building an underground telephone line.

He was alone in the car.

2 Are Arrested, 15 Gallons of Moonshine Seized

Two Negroes were arrested and 15 gallons of moonshine liquor seized by City Police last night following a short chase that started at 16th and Hervey and ended at the Highway 4 railway crossing.

They were listed as Harmon Williams, and Leroy Williams Jr., both of Hope. The men were turned over to the federal authorities.

Officers Rowe and Orr chased the Negro auto across the city, finally stopping it near the city limits where they searched the auto and discovered the 15 gallons of liquor.

Pilkinton Is Speaker at Synod Meet

EL DORADO, Ark. — (Special) — The Synod of Arkansas, Presbyterian Church in the United States, convened here today for its two day annual session.

The highlight of the opening program was an address by Judge James H. Pilkinton of Hope, a Presbyterian layman, who is retiring Moderator of the Synod and who is slated to become Chairman of Synod's Council next year.

Only once during a forty-five minute address which dealt mainly with church matters did the speaker even refer to the controversial racial question which is expected to provoke much discussion later in the conference. At one point in his address, which was delivered to some two hundred church leaders of the state, Judge Pilkinton stated:

"The Church should not permit itself to be inadvertently used by the extremists on either side of the racial question. The primary duty of the Church is to reach sinners where ever they may be, and you are likely to find a lot of them on both extremes, and in the middle too, of this particular question."

"Sometime I think that the most Christian thing we can do as a Church is simply to stop making pronouncements on the subject, and stirring up things, and begin pouring the oil of Christian love on troubled waters."

Judge Pilkinton said that he did not personally approve of the methods being employed by extremists on either side of the racial question, and that he based his personal position on the subject not upon integration, segregation, interposition or any other man made doctrine which might mean different things to different people, but upon the Golden Rule, and that the Golden Rule was the only safe place to stand on this question, or any other.

The Synod will continue through tomorrow. Dr. J. W. Bryson Pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church in Pine Bluff, was today elected as the new Moderator to succeed Judge Pilkinton.

Waitress Admits Armed Robbery

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — A waitress arrested and jailed here last night has admitted the armed robbery of a Little Rock liquor store last August.

Police identified the blond 24-year-old girl as Louise Brown. They said she admitted robbing Mrs. Minnie O. Rounton, owner of the DuPont Liquor Store.

U. S. Base in Iceland Now Up to NATO

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UP) — The North Atlantic Treaty nations may intervene in an effort to save the United States $150 million NATO air bases in Iceland, political observers said today.

The vital air base straddling the Moscow-Washington great circle route were threatened by victories of an "Oust America" coalition in Iceland's parliamentary elections. The coalition wants to moth-ball the bases and send the U. S. troops home.

The Iceland state radio predicted today the coalition of Progressive and social democratic parties would receive only 25 of the 74 seats in the Althing (parliament). — Two short of the 27 necessary for an absolute majority.

But the Communists won eight seats and would support any move to oust the Americans.

Premier Olafur Thor's Independence Party won only 19 seats and it became apparent the pro-American leader would be unable to maintain the status quo. He has fought to maintain the bases which contribute enormously to Iceland's economy.

The Iceland state radio made its estimate of final standings today on the basis of actual results and apportionment of 11 supplementary seats. The 11 supplementary seats are not won by direct voting but go to parties on bases of their actual voting strength.

Paris dispatches said the NATO council was concerned about outcome of the election and may move in an effort to prevent the bases being closed.

Under the treaty between the United States and Iceland establishing the American bases in Iceland must seek the formal advice of NATO on withdrawal. This move is expected around Aug. 1.

Taylor, a Staff Sergeant in the Marine Air Corps, and he is stationed in Adak, Alaska.

Mr. Brashears and son Coy have the same hobbies of skeet and trap shooting, hunting and fishing, and Coy, who just finished high school at Glen Burnie, was active in track and field events. Betty Jo said she liked horse back riding, swimming and just about any kind of out door sports.

Mrs. Brashears' hobby is collecting salt and pepper shakers, she had 67 pairs prior to Hope; she has 70 now. The Brashears live in Pasadena, Maryland, eight miles from Baltimore. Address is Rt. 5, Box 458. Mr. Brashears is with Counties Construction Co. and has been for three years. He has been in the Gas business for 14 years.

After a fine lunch at the Diamond, the party adjourned to the Chamber of Commerce office where Manager B. N. Holt presented them with souvenir gifts by Mrs. John Keck, Split Hickory Co.; Southwest Woods Products Co.; and Hope Basket Co. Jay Bagwell was at the controls out at KXAR, and played back the tape recording so the Brashears and hosts could hear it.

In two short hours, Our Town, through the efforts and co-operation of some of our civic minded citizens, had made another out of state family feel at home. It is hoped Mr. and Mrs. Brashears and their family visit us gain. They are truly what we call, "Good Folks."

FROGGY WATER

TRENTON, N. J. (UP) — Mrs. Elizabeth Burkhard, a Trenton housewife, said she turned on a water faucet yesterday and got a tiny frog along with the water.

She captured the frog and has him in a bottle for the benefit of skeptics who may doubt her story.

Doctors Feel Ike to Start Gaining

BY STERLING F. GREN

WASHINGTON (M) — President Eisenhower's doctors said today they look for him to start gaining some weight soon. He still weighs 162 pounds—seven less than when he was hospitalized, June 8.

An 8:20 a.m. EDT bulletin from Walter Reed Army Hospital reported:

"The President had a very comfortable night's rest. He slept at most continuously nine hours.

"His temperature is 98.2, pulse 78, blood pressure 120 over 70 and respiration 18—all of which are normal.

"He is holding his present weight. His condition continues to progress very satisfactorily. His spirits and morale are high."

Eisenhower is looking forward to discharge from the hospital Friday or Saturday. He plans to go then to Gettysburg, Pa., to spend his 40th wedding anniversary Sunday with Mrs. Eisenhower at their farm home.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the doctors told him they are "satisfied that he (Eisenhower) is not losing weight, which could happen in these cases at this time" of convalescence.

Swimming Snakes

Contrary to general belief, snakes can swim. They cannot strike as far on water as on land, because of lack of firm support, but their bite is almost as effective under water as elsewhere.

British Judge Slightly Better

NICOSIA, Cyprus (M) — A British judge seriously wounded by pro-Greek Cypriots was reported "slightly better" today.

Justice Bernard V. Shaw, who has been sentenced to death six Cypriot rebels against British rule, was shot twice through the neck by two gunmen as his car stopped yesterday for a signal light in busy Victoria street.

The 65-year-old jurist's two guards opened fire and ran in pursuit, but the assailants escaped in a small car. British troops and police scoured Nicosia for the gun-

Price Program for Rice Urged by Texan

WASHINGTON (M) — Rep. Clark Thompson (D-Tex) yesterday urged Secretary of Agriculture Benson to adopt a 2-price program for rice. Thompson said Benson "appeared to be entirely open-minded" on the subject.

The Congressman said, "I came away with the distinct impression that he was willing to try the plan if a significant number of rice farmers and other phases of the rice industry favor it."

Under a 2 price program growers would receive a government supported price for rice sold for domestic consumption and the somewhat lower world price for the rest of their crop.

The 1956 farm law permits Benson to adopt a 2-price system for rice but does not direct him to do so.

Thompson said many people in the rice industry believe the 2-price system would enable American producers to recapture lost foreign markets and would result, within a few years, in "suspension for all controls and a return to completely competitive production and marketing."

Thompson also asked Benson to put some farmers on his Rice Industry Advisory Committee and on similar groups. "Mr. Benson," the congressman said, "expressed surprise that the farmers had not received this recognition and said he would look into it immediately."

Narcotic Charges Filed by Italians

ROME (M) — Police today announced the filing of narcotics charges against 21 persons, including four titled men prominent in Italian high society and a leading actor.

Those charged with using drugs were Prince Giuseppe (Pepito) Pignatelli, 25, well known about Rome but officially a resident of Mexico City; Duke Lodovico Lante della Rovere, 25, a member of the same ancestral family as 16th century Pope Julius II; Marquis Emanuele de Seta, 36; former war hero and Sicilian aristocrat; Duke Augusto Torlonia, 32, scion of one of Italy's wealthiest families; Carlo Crococo, 29, one of Italy's best known stage and screen comics; and four other men and three women. Of this group only Prince Pignatelli, Duke Lodovico and the Marquis de Seta were arrested. But the police also picked up four doctors and five other men accused of peddling drugs.

Miss Kuhlmann—D. Collins

Nuptials
White Gladioli and orchid mums. Complimented by lighted tapers, provided a setting in Our Redeemer Lutheran Church for the wedding of Miss Barbara Kuhlmann and Dorsey A. Collins. The Rev. Alfred Saeger read the double ring service at four o'clock in the afternoon with 175 guests witnessing the nuptials.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Kuhlmann of North Platte are the parents of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Collins of Hope are the parents of the bridegroom. The bride approached the altar escorted by her father. She was dressed in a monastory white floor length gown. It was styled with a scoop neckline edged in tiny seed pearls and had long fitted sleeves. The basque bodice was of handclipped Chantilly lace, and dipped in a V shape. The bouffant hooped skirt was fashioned with an overskirt of fingertip length handkerchief points, under which tiny ruffles of gossamer nylon tulle cascaded to the floor. The underskirt was made of Bridal satin.

Her French imported illusion veil was caught by a small half-hat of matching Chantilly lace trimmed in seed pearls, and she carried an orchid on a white Bible, from which white streamers with vandas fell.

Mrs. Robert E. Rae Jr., attended the bride as matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Richard Bader and Miss Kathleen Brittain. The attendants appeared in ballerina length gowns of lilac and orchid, as designed and created by Janie Frosts of New York. The gowns featured basque bodices gathered in the two shades of color, with tiny straps in ruffles edged in lilac. Their hats were fashioned with tiny leaves of lilac nylon tulle and covered with scalloped tulle edged in seed pearls and worn over the face. They carried colonial nosegays of orchids and white carnations.

Diane McNitt was flower girl, wearing a delicate organza and nylon frock and carrying a basket of rose petals. Steven Kuhlmann was ring bearer. Candelights, Beth and Judy Kuhlmann, wore identical orchid colored gowns. Gene Collison served the groom as best man. Seating the guests were Billy and Wayne Collins. Mrs. Orville Kuhlmann was organist, and accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hilpert, who sang. The bride's mother was attired in an aqua and white crystaletta suit with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore pink tulle with pink and black accessories. Both had corsages of white roses.

A reception for 175 guests was held in the church parlors. A three tiered white cake decorated with orchid flowers and encircled with an orchid tulle ruffle, centered the serving table, which was appointed with orchid and white Easter Redd flowers and white tapers. Mrs. Victor Kuhlmann, aunt of the bride, who had baked the cake, cut and served it at the reception.

Mrs. Gilbert Kramer poured, and Mrs. I. S. Newman, served punch. Mrs. Ramona Dale attended the guest book, and presiding at the gift table were Miss Wilma Tegethoff, Miss Jeanne Kuhlmann and Mrs. Mary Hunt. Hostesses were Mesdames Hilpert, John and Louise Mills, Arley Morrow and Neil Erickson.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins left on a trip to the Black Hills, with the bride wearing an embroidered crystaletta costume with duster. They will be at home after July 10 at Rhodes Acres.

Mrs. Collins attended North Platte High School and Mr. Collins attended Hope High School and is stationed with the U. S. Air Force at the North Platte Filter Center.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding, besides those mentioned were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Collins, Billy and Wayne of Hope; Messrs. and Mesdames Harry McNitt, Fred Fields, Denver, Colo.; H. M. McNitt, Longmont, Colo.; Henry Heidbrink, Janice and Helen, Mrs. Anna D. Kuhlman, Chester, Nebraska.

DOROTHY DIX

Engaged Too Long
Late Dater
He's Losing Interest

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am engaged to one of the finest young men in the world. We have been engaged several years and plan to be married next spring. I'm positive he loves me, I love him and everything seems perfect except one thing.

I work in an office and have met a man named Peter. He's a lot of fun and is constantly asking for dates, although he knows I'm engaged. The trouble is I want to accept his invitations very much.

I've gone with him to a few dances and I've enjoyed myself so much I forgot all about my fiancé. Then I feel so ashamed, I know I love my fiancé, but I can't help liking Peter. I don't want to break with my fiancé, but I do want to date Peter. What can I do.

DEAR CONFUSED BELLE:
You've reached the point where your fiancé has become a habit that's hard to break. I think your engagement of "several years," plus the uncertainty of just when you finally be married, is getting you down. Diversion from any quarter would undoubtedly be welcome, but from a fun-loving, attractive young man, it's downright irresistible.

Have you stopped to consider that Peter is probably thoroughly enjoying a flirtation without incurring any responsibility. He's far from an upright young man, or he wouldn't permit, much less encourage, you to break faith with another man. If you broke your engagement, I doubt very much if you'd find Peter around offering solace. He'd take to the woods.

You're surrounded by flashing red signal lights that spell danger! Your too-long engagement should be resolved immediately, at least with a definite wedding.

J. S. McDowell and other relatives over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. William McDowell and family of Shreveport were visitors in Hope and visited his father, W. S. McDowell who is a patient in Branch Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Hansel Alford of Stephens, were visitors in the home of Mr. Alford's sister, Mr. C. C. Collins and Mrs. J. S. McDowell Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Berry of El Dorado and Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Shaw of Springhill, Louisiana were visitors Sunday in the home of Mrs. C. C. Collins.

Mr. and Mrs. George Crews of Hope and Mr. and Mrs. George Allen of Nashville were Sunday guests of Mrs. J. E. May in Ozan.

date; your friendship with Peter should end and that's my piece.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I've known Bryan for several months and am convinced I'm in love with him. I hope he likes me, but his dating is very casual. He takes another girl out, then drops in to see me on his way home.

I think the other girl has to be home quite early (she has strict parents), and he doesn't like to get home so soon. Do you think I have a chance?

DEAR PEARL: This is casual dating at its ultimate. I certainly wouldn't be flattered at a boy dating me after dates, but perhaps his whole interest can be won. Don't plan on it, however. The first date has the inside track.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Bill and I have been going together for quite a while. Now all of a sudden he has been making excuses to break dates. In fact, he's acting as if he has no interest in me at all.

DEAR JUDY: The boy just doesn't have enough courage to break off and is trying the indirect system of ignoring you, hoping you'll break it up. To save face, I advise you to take advantage of this tactic. Trying to hold him will do no good.

Australia Hit by Big Floods

SYDNEY Australia (AP)—Torrential rains accompanied by gale force winds caused floods and widespread damage today in southwestern Australia. Rivers throughout the state of

Romania Chief Gives Welcome to Tito

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
BUCHAREST, Romania (AP)—Romania's Communist leaders, entertaining President Tito of Yugoslavia as "a dear and beloved comrade," have his promise to forget the past.

Tito arrived yesterday in the Romanian capital from Moscow, where he and Soviet leaders signed agreements to cooperate in the future at both government and Communist party levels.

During his three-day visit in Bucharest he is expected to present to Romanian officials the new rules for cooperation among Communist governments decided at his Kremlin conferences.

Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej, Romanian Communist party chief, and Premier Chivu Stoica led the official greetings when Tito and his wife stepped from the special train taking them back to Belgrade after their Russian tour. President Petru Groza, Romania's strong man during Tito's break with the Soviet bloc is ill. Stoica referred to "that unhappy break of contact between us" in atomic test June 19 in the Mono Bello Islands off Australia's northwest coast.

WIRED FOR TROUBLE—As Cyprus' governor Sir John Harding meets in London with Prime Minister Anthony Eden and other top government officials to seek a solution to the Cyprus problem, British soldiers string a mile-long barbed wire barrier in Nicosia, the capital of Britain's principal military base in the Middle East. Five gates in the barricade will remain open when quiet reigns, they'll be shut as first sign of trouble bubbles up between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

CHAPTER XXXII

Frank caught up with the herd. They had entered a hard, rough country. The Skull threaded a pinched canyon here, its walls leaving barely room for a trail along one bank. At one spot, a steep canyon wall turned a natural corral, knee-high with blue-joint grass. Here they rested.

Swenson had been watching for him and now struck his dun with his heels and brought the ham-headed beside Frank. "He won't be bothering us," Frank said indifferently. Then when Swede continued to stare, he added, "No, I didn't kill him."

"Too bad. They'll follow us all the way to McHenry." Driving by way of the Skull would take them two days to McHenry. The river, from this point on which they camped, took a sweeping bow around the Skull badlands. It was a shorter drive through the malpais, but no one rode a horse into that during his season.

Jean stooped over the fire to pour him a cup of coffee. He read the relief in her eyes and knew she had been worrying about him.

Their noon dishes were scoured by sand and river water. After they had been replaced in the wagon Frank climbed to his feet. He hadn't wanted the rest at all and wouldn't have agreed except for the horses. They must not be worn down when they reached the Army corrals at McHenry. He ordered the crew to make sure every animal in the string was led to water and held there until it drank its fill.

Beside him Jean's eyes flashed. "I believe you've read my mind. We strike for the malpais!"

He had guessed this already and now he merely smiled. Wherever a woman could lead, no man should hesitate to follow. But all he had heard of the crossing gave him a quiver of feeling for what lay ahead. La Tour stood close enough to overhear. He protested abruptly and stood frowning.

"How do you know there'll be water in The Pits?" A dismal, black fear passed through Jean's eyes. This was not a decision she had reached by easy stages. Her glance crept over the crewmen until she found Alex, silently signaling him out. He let the horses stand beside the river and ran to her. "Alex," she said, "will there be water in The Pits? This is very important. It may mean—death."

"I have never seen them completely dry. But I have never been there when it was as dry as this season."

"When were you to The Pits?" La Tour demanded.

"Not very many places he hasn't roamed," Jean smiled.

"It's not hard to find them," Alex answered. "Just follow the bones of Vogel Cash's cattle."

"You know the trail."

Jean's gaze lowered pensively. The Skull had been well named, and even though she had been too young to ride on that drive, she remembered her father when he returned completely spent. Supplying the California gold camps with beef had been a long chance but promising heavy profits. The trail followed the Skull to the Cold-his welcoming speech, but said now there are "bro-spects for collaboration in all fields" since Yugoslavia - Soviet differences have been patched up.

Tito replied: "Our two countries had no armed conflict in the past and conditions now exist for closer cooperation because both are building socialism."

Such cooperation existed in the immediate postwar years and we know the disturbance which occurred afterward was not caused by the people."

In the interests of peace, Tito added, "the recent past should be forgotten."

He mentioned the agreements he made in Moscow and said, "We are quite certain these documents represent a serious contribution to the cause of peace and that the spirit of these documents could serve as a basis for similar agreements between our two countries."

Local Parakeet's Best Line Is Politics

Ex-Musician Is Now a Catholic Priest

BEACON, N. Y. (AP)—A jazz musician who was thumping a bass fiddle in a Manhattan hot spot 10 years ago has been ordained a Roman Catholic priest.

Gate Frega — now Father John of the Cross — was ordained yesterday. He had spent years of study and meditation as a brother in St. Lawrence Capuchin Monastery here.

Father John, 39, said he "had an urge for the priesthood" when he went to school in Paterson, N. J. But he became a musician with Les Brown's dance band, the Army allstar band, and later, the Joe Mooney quartet.

"I don't believe that music and God are ever very far apart," Father John said. "The priesthood was always in the back of my mind. Even when I was up on the bandstand . . . I thought about it."

He still plays his bass fiddle with other musicians among the brothers "just for our own pleasure."

Father John will celebrate his first Mass next Sunday at St. Michael's Roman Catholic church in Paterson.

ASKING TOO MUCH

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — State officials sympathized with capitol Custodian Charles Wayner's complaint that 360 windows were left open during a rainstorm but didn't think they could go along with his remedy.

Wayner wanted to nail all the capitol building windows shut.

This is "Steve," the parakeet that's gotten into politics. St. (Hope Route Four).

Steve is full of conversation, but his most startling speech is this one.

"Steve's a Democrat, and we're going to throw the Republicans out — they've been kicking the Democrats around."

It was the report that Steve really could make a speech like this — brought into The Star office by C. M. (Pod) Rogers, Jr., manager of the newspaper's circulation, poultry, fresh fruit & vegetables department — that got the editor to go out with Pod and interview Mr. and Mrs. Hardin.

The parakeet could talk, all right — and while we didn't hear him make his political oration this particular time it is our considered opinion he could very well do so.

A talking parakeet sounds like the disembodied voice of a ghost — as though coming from a ventriloquist or a distant radio turned down low. You watch the lips of other persons in the room, to see if they might be faking for the bird. But it really is the bird talking. He is talking from the back of his throat, actually just the way a ventriloquist talks.

Steve is a green bird with a yellow cap, male, and a year and a half old.

We asked Mr. Hardin whether he or his wife taught the bird, and he replied, "Well, the wife did a lot of the teaching — but I do claim credit for that Democratic party speech."

The Hardins operate a laying-hen establishment on W. 16th St., specializing in producing pedigreed eggs for Cornbelt Hatcheries of Hope.

Snarling Mascot at Lion Session

MIAMI (UP) — A three-month old, king of beasts regined today over 35,000 Lions club members from all over the nation and the world who gathered here for their 39th annual convention.

The Lion cub, snarling as he arrived at Miami airport yesterday, will lead the convention parade.

The cub, named Cee-Zee, is a gift of the city of Portland, Ore., and the Portland Lions Club.

Cee-Zee, born in Portland's zoo March 27, will serve as official mascot for the convention, and then will off to the Santiago, Chile, zoo as a gift of the service club. Santiago is the home of Humberto Valenzuela, the present president of the International Leions.

In exchange Santiago Lions will send Portland a Chilean condor.

The four day convention, which has its first general session Wednesday, will be highlighted by major addresses by Vice President Richard Nixon, Henry Cabot Lodge, permanent U. S. representative to the United Nations, and Gov. Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina. Gov. LeRoy Collins of Florida will be on hand to deliver a welcoming message.

Holdout Danny Now Interested in Television

By CHARLES MERGER

NEW YORK (AP)—Danny Kaye, probably the lasttoplight intertainer who stoutly resists the lure of television, finally is enthusiastic about a television program.

Admittedly it's filmed and admittedly it will be a while before the viewing audience has a chance to see it. But the combination of Kaye's debut in television and Kaye's enthusiasm about it is news.

The program, which will be an Ed Murrow "See It Now" subject on CBS-TV in the fall, will star Kaye in an unusual role—that of Ambassador at Large for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

Kaye returned recently from an eight-week 32,000-mile tour of 11 countries for UNICEF. Visiting hospitals, nutritional centers and child aid organizations from England to Nigeria and from Spain to Israel, he doubled as both a journalist and an entertainer. Two "See It Now" camera and sound crews accompanying him shot nearly 200,000 feet of film.

A look at some of this film shows that Kaye's pantomime, comedy and song is a universal language. It shows him bringing smiles to the faces of handicapped children in Italy, delighting hundreds of lepers in a Nigerian leprosarium, and convulsing an audience of 5,000 in Yugoslavia. His talents certainly pierce the iron curtain of languages.

"Kids are kids everywhere," Kaye said recently. "No matter when their nationalities, they look and act alike."

The program will not be simply a vehicle for Danny Kaye. Rather, he is the symbol that brings together the problems and work of UNICEF.

"Not a word of script was prepared," said Kaye. "I hung a milk around my neck and we moved in. Now there's a real problem of cutting all that film. At this point we don't know whether there will be two programs instead of one."

Does this mean that Kaye has an increasing interest in television?

"There was a specific purpose for my doing this in television. It's to help a cause that I think is most important and it makes a validly dramatic program. But it's not really a taste of television and I know it."

"If I have a specific reason to use television I'll do it. I am not saying, I never will be on television."

American Reds Claim Right to Criticize

NEW YORK (AP)—The U. S. Communist party says it has the "right and duty" to engage in "friendly criticism" of Red Comrades in the Soviet Union and other countries.

The party yesterday declared a degree of independence from Moscow's domination. The American Communists also said they couldn't go along with Nikita S. Khrushchev's charges that Stalin was 100 per cent to blame for the excesses of his regime.

Communist parties in Italy, France and Britain have also taken more independent public positions toward Moscow in recent weeks.

The National Committee of the Communist party of the U. S. issued a statement yesterday after meeting at an undisclosed place in New York City.

The committee described the party as "an independent Marxist party of American workers dedicated to socialism." The party's other nations must be based on relations with Communists in equality and the "right and duty of all countries to engage in friendly criticism of the theory of practice of the Marxists of any country. . . ." it said.

The committee said it was "deeply shocked" by the anti-Stalin disclosures made by Communist party chief Khrushchev in his recent speech to the 20th Congress of the Russian party.

"A basic analysis of how such perversions of Socialist Democracy, justice and internationalism were permitted to develop and continue unchecked for 20 years must still be made by the leadership of the Communist party of the Soviet Union," the committee said. "It needs also to be made by Marxists everywhere. Khrushchev's contribution makes only a beginning."

"We cannot accept an alaysis of such profound mistakes which attributes them solely to the capacious aberrations of a single individual Stalin, no matter how much arbitrary power he has wrongly permitted to usurp."

"It is just as wrong to ascribe all the mistakes and violations of individual as it was to ascribe to him all the achievements and grandeur of socialist progress in the U. S. S. R."

The committee also questioned Khrushchev's handling of Jews. "We are deeply disturbed," the committee said, "by the facts revealed in information coming from Poland that organs and media of Jewish culture were summarily dissolved and a number of their leaders executed."

"This is contrary to the Soviet Union's historic contributions to the Jewish question. Khrushchev's failure to deal with these

Three Killed in Crash of Plant

SALINA, Kan. (AP)—A B-47 bomber crashed and burned in a wheat field near Salina early today, killing three men and parts of another were found near the crash scene.

The plane, out of Smoky Hill Air Force Base here, was returning from a routine training mission when it apparently exploded.

military authorities said. Wreckage was scattered a mile.

Names of the dead were withheld pending notification of kin. One body and parts of another were found near the crash scene.

The control tower was in contact with the plane four minutes before it crashed, and the pilot gave no hint of trouble, base officials said.

Several acres of wheat stubble burned in the resulting fire at the site. Nearby telephone lines were damaged.

A board of inquiry will seek the cause of the crash, the Air Force said.

Some scientists now doubt that intelligence declines after age 30. U. S. farmers' cooperative has 7,800,000 members.

Army Must Operate Spa Hospital

By GORDON BROWN
WASHINGTON —Whether the Army likes it or not, it's going to have the job of operating the Army - Navy Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., and Murphy General Hospital at Waltham, Mass., for another year.

The Army has been trying to close the two hospitals for several years but Congress insists they should be operated.

This year, as last, Congress is putting its order into the Defense Department appropriation bill. The House already has passed the bill with the directive included.

The Senate now is nearing completion of the bill and there is no likelihood the directive will be dropped since it was approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

This is the third year the Army has tried to drop the hospitals, contending the patient load is too small to justify continued operation.

Two years ago the Arkansas and Massachusetts delegations, led by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) and Rep. Norrell (D-Ark), got the Army to agree to use available funds and continue the hospitals.

Last year the Army appeared a little more determined so McClellan inserted in the appropriation bill a requirement the hospitals be continued.

This year the Army tried again. This time Norrell put similar language in the bill on the House side.

The Arkansans contend that ArmyNavy Hospital is one of the most modern hospitals the Army has and that there is no justification for closing it. To a contention the patient load has dropped, McClellan and Norrell say the patient load at a hospital is whatever the Army wants it to be.

McClellan has urged the Army to consider using the Hot Springs facility for retired military personnel and their dependents. He said many retired Army and Navy men live in the area and have no place to go for adequate treatment.

Although the Army operated the Hot Springs hospital for the past year under its congressional directive, it made a rather limited operation out of it.

In fact, the House appropriation committee, in its report on the Defense Department bill, verbally spanked the Army for the way it cut down its personnel and equipment.

The Army operation of the hospital, said the committee, almost amounted to a complete disregard of the wishes of Congress.

The Army had no comment to make on this. Likewise, it has made no comment on what it will do the coming year, starting July 1, and probably won't have anything to say until the bill actually is passed and signed.

Last year, after the bill was signed, a spokesman said the Army would obey the congressional directive.
